2. Authors/employers may reproduce or authorize others to reproduce the Work, material extracted verbatim from the Work, or derivative works for the author's personal use or for company use, provided that the source and the iLRN copyright notice are indicated, the copies are not used in any way that implies iLRN endorsement of a product or service of any employer, and the copies themselves are not offered for sale.

INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS

iLRN Copyright Ownership

It is the formal policy of iLRN to own the copyrights to all copyrightable material in its publications and to the individual contributions contained therein, in order to protect the interests of iLRN, its authors and their employers, and, at the same time, to facilitate the appropriate re-use of this material by others. iLRN distributes its publications throughout the world and does so by various means such as hard copy and electronic media. It also abstracts and may submit its publications, and articles contained therein, for inclusion and/or indexing in various compendiums, collective works, databases, and other venues, in the original language of publication and/or following translation into another language.

Author/Employer Rights

If you are employed and prepared the Work on a subject within the scope of your employment, the copyright in the Work belongs to your employer as a work-for-hire. In that case, iLRN assumes that when you sign this Form, you are authorized to do so by your employer and that your employer has consented to the transfer of copyright, to the representation and warranty of publication rights, and to all other terms and conditions of this Form. If such authorization and consent has not been given to you, an authorized representative of your employer should sign this Form as the Author.

Reprint/Republication Policy

iLRN requires that the consent of the first-named author and employer be sought as a condition to granting reprint or republication rights to others or for permitting use of a Work for promotion or marketing purposes.
